FORM 12B – RECORD OF REFUSAL OF PATIENT'S REQUEST TO ACCESS DOCUMENT

Notes: Form 12B – Record of refusal of patient's request to access document

When to use this form:

A person who is or was provided with treatment or care by a mental health service is entitled to inspect, and to be given a copy of, any relevant document relating to the person that is in the possession or control of —

- the person in charge of the mental health service; or
- a staff member of the mental health service (s248).

If a request to access a relevant document is refused, a record of the refusal must be made on this form.

Refusal of request to access a document:

A request must be refused:

- if a psychiatrist reasonably believes that disclosure of the information in the document to the person —
 - poses a significant risk to the health or safety of the person or to the safety of another person; or
 - poses a significant risk of serious harm to the person or to another person;or
- if disclosure of the information in the document to the person would reveal —
 - personal information about an individual who is not the person; or
 - information of a confidential nature that was obtained in confidence.(unless the personal information is about an individual who consents to the disclosure of the information).
or
- if the person is or was a mentally impaired accused required under the Criminal Law (Mentally Impaired Accused) Act to be detained at an authorised hospital; and the relevant document came into existence under, or for the purposes of, the Prisons Act 1981 (s249).

Steps person can take if request refused:

- If a person has been refused access to a relevant document the person may nominate a medical practitioner or a legal practitioner or both to inspect, and be given a copy of the relevant document (s250(2)).
- The nominated practitioner is entitled to inspect and be given a copy of the relevant document as soon as practicable (s250(3)).
- The person who inspects, or is given a copy of a relevant document must not disclose any information in the document to the person who has been refused access. The penalty for doing so is a fine of $5,000 (s251).
